World Telecommunication Day

"One world, one network"

Reports are now coming in at ITU headquarters on the celebration of World Telecommunication Day in the different Member countries of the Union. We publish hereafter a résumé of these reports.

Madagascar

- In Madagascar, World Telecommunication Day was celebrated this year by:
1. Sound and television broadcasts of the messages of the ITU Secretary-General and the Minister of Posts and Telecommunications.
 2. Two postage stamps were issued on 17 May to commemorate World Communications Year. The design of the two stamps and also the World Communications Year

- national poster were the subject of a national competition organized last year.
3. In the national capital and five other principal towns, the Posts and Telecommunications ministry made several telephone cabins, with access to the national network, available to the public free of charge.
 4. First showing of the film entitled "Du kabary au satellite", a joint production of Radio-télévision malgache and Radio Nederland Television (kabary in Malgache means literally discourse).
